

GROUP PRESENTATION

There are various charities which help the homeless.

The National Lottery Commission has recently decided to donate £150,000 to a homeless charity. They have invited presentations from all the main charities who work with the homeless in order to help them decide which charity to give the money to. Your task is to research a homeless charity and prepare a group presentation to persuade the Commission to give your charity the £150,000. To do this you need to do the following:

- research the charity allocated to your group
- using the information you collect, decide which information you will include in your presentation
- plan the structure of your talk
- produce a script of the talk, remembering your aim is to persuade
- organise any visual aids to accompany the presentation.
